

Fair, If You Expect Admiring

(from Philip Rosseter's Book of Ayres 1601)

Thomas Campion

(1567-1620)

Arr: Richard Kram

$\text{♩} = 90$
Lively

Voice

Fair, if you ex - pect ad - mir - ing, Sweet, if you pro - voke de - sir - ing,
Fates, if you rule lov - ers for - tune, Stars, if men your pow - ers im - por - tune,

Continuo

5

V.

Grace dear love with kind re - quit - ing. Fond, but if thy Yield re - lief by your re - lent - ing. Time, if sor - row

Cont.

9

V.

sight be blind - ness, False, if thou af - fect un - kind - ness, Fly, both be not end - less, Hope made vain, and pi - ty friend - less, Help to

Cont.

EDITION KRAM

13

V.
 love ease and love's de-light - ing. Then when hope is lost and ease my long la-ment - ing. But if griefs re - main still -

Cont.

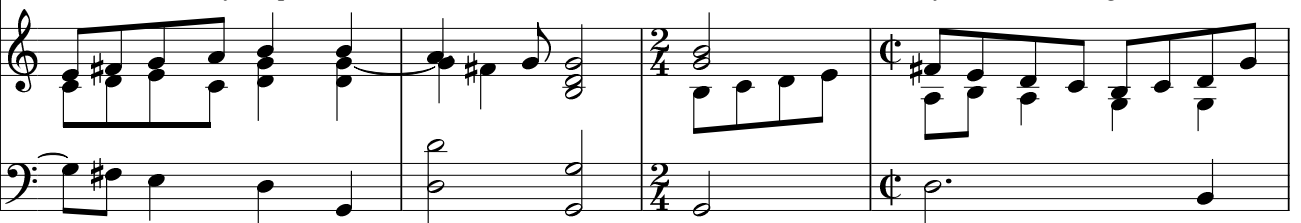

17

V.
 love is scorn - ed, I'll bu-ry my de-sires, and quench the fires that un - re - dress - ed, I'll fly to her a - gain, and she for pi - ty

Cont.

21

V.
 ev - er yet in vain have burn - ed. I'll bu-ry my de-sires, and to re - new my hopes de - stress - ed. I'll fly to her a - gain, and Cont.

25

V. quench the fires that ev - er yet in vain have burn - ed.
 she for pi - ty to re - new my hopes de - stress - ed.

Cont. 